London Sport Consultancy: Helping to get Londoners active together

Business Development Manager Jennie Rivett writes about how our consultancy services help us collaboratively work with partners to tackle the huge challenge of making London the most active city in the world.

We work collaboratively with our sector partners to raise participation levels in physical activity and sport and help Londoners live happy and healthy lives.

To do this as effectively as possible London Sport offers the opportunity for organisations to commission bespoke project consultancy that taps into four core areas of our specialist expertise.

Partners can utilise our knowledge around digital marketing, funding, research and insight, and technology to learn valuable lessons which will help them support their end users.

Since our consultancy started nearly four years ago, we have worked with over 50 clients ranging from London councils to charities and tech ventures.

We've undertaken projects covering physical activity strategies, Facebook campaigns, fundraising planning and tech events to name a few.

All our projects are led by our experienced experts in their field, and we pride ourselves in providing high-quality project delivery and, crucially, actionable outcomes.

Alongside providing additional capacity to undertake project work for clients, we really add value by exploring what's already there in new ways and testing innovative approaches.

Think differently and challenge the status quo.
